

Information on the external auditor candidate for approval by the JSC Gazprom Neft Annual General Meeting

PriceWaterHouseCoopers is the largest company in the world providing consultancy and audit services.

PriceWaterHouseCoopers has a large branch network covering all big markets, both established and emerging.

PriceWaterHouseCoopers has regional offices in 149 countries and employs more than 140,000 people all over the world. The company's share of the market of auditing services provided to fuel and energy companies is equal to 31 %.

Among the Company's clients there are such world leading companies as Saudi Aramco, ExxonMobil, Chevron Texaco etc.

In order to improve the quality of services provided to fuel and energy companies in various countries PriceWaterHouseCoopers established a separate body, the Global Energy Service, whose largest centres are located in Moscow, London and Houston. PriceWaterHouseCoopers' Global Energy Service is the leading organization in the field of service provision to international fuel and energy companies.

In the Russian market PriceWaterHouseCoopers is the acknowledged leader in the field of specialized services meeting the increasing requirements of oil and gas and mining industry. More than 360 professionals of the company are focused on work with oil and gas companies; the accumulated field experience enables the company to provide a broad range of professional services.

A number of large Russian companies, such as Gazprom Group, TNK-BP, Tatneft, etc. have employed the services of PriceWaterHouseCoopers at different times.

In accordance with the annual rating of "Russia's Largest Audit & Consulting Companies" performed by Expert RA, PriceWaterHouseCoopers is the largest firm in Russia. PriceWaterHouseCoopers provides a wide range of services, including audit, managing business performance, legal services, tax, management and corporate transaction support.